3344 MR. EYTON'S COLLECTION OF ORNITHOLOGICAL ILLUSTRATIONS.

A VERY EXTENSIVE AND EXTREMELY VALUABLE COLLECTION OF 6250 BEAUTIFULLY COLOURED DRAWINGS AND ENGRAVINGS OF BIRDS OF ALL COUNTRIES,

COMPRISING

AND UPWARDS OF

including the magnificent Plates published by Mr. Gould in his Birds of Europe, Asia and Australia, his Century of Himalayan Birds, Ramphastidæ, Trogonidæ and Icones Avium; in Audubon's Birds of America, the large folio edition; Jerdon's Illustrations of Indian Ornithology, Sclater and Salvin's Exotic Ornithology, Temminck and Laugier's Planches Coloriées d'Oiseaux, Vieillot's Oiseaux Chanteurs de la Zone Torride, Large Paper, Le Vaillant's Histoire des Perroquets, et Oiseaux d'Afrique, Knip's Pigeons, Siebold's Aves Japonicæ, Gray's Indian Zoology and Genera of Birds, Jerdon's Indian Ornithology, Smith's Zoology of South Africa, Fraser's Zoologia Typica, Jardine's Contributions to Ornithology, Gosse's Birds of Jamaica, Lear's Psittacidæ, Wilson's American Ornithology, Wolf's Zoological Sketches, Voyage de l'Uranie, Transactions of the Zoological Society, and many other costly publications.

———the whole being arranged in 38 imperial folio volumes filled with brown-tinted paper, half pale brown russia, lettered AVES, £500.

This is probably the finest Collection of Representations of British and Foreign Birds ever formed, and was made regardless of expense by Mr. Eyton, who denuded many of the most costly Works of their plates to render the Series as complete as possible. To an Ornithologist this collection would be invaluable, as the illustrations being arranged in the order of the Families, the considerable amount of time which would be spent in searching through a large number of books to find a representation of a bird, would be saved.

The descriptive letterpress to the following works, the plates of which form the majority of the collection, is joined and will be given with the lot.

These original Drawings of this celebrated Painter of Sporting subjects are very spirited; two of the Drawings by Hans Bol, 1575, are also in the volume.

Singularly to relate, one of the Drawings of Stradanus gives a full-length portrait of "AMERICUS VESPUCIUS FLORENT 1497," landing on American soil, his ship in the background, and an Indian woman receiving him.

ib. (1580)

A collection of spirited engravings representing Hunting, Fishing, and Fowling, Combats of Wild Animals and the slaying of Dragons and Monsters. This book shows how very old some stories, supposed to belong to our own times, really are; for instance, the feat of riding on the back of an alligator, which Waterton alleged to have been performed (a statement universally discredited), was, according to Stradanus (plate 88), practised by the Egyptians in capturing those reptiles.

by T. H. for John Hurison, 1652

EXTREMELY RARE. This little book of 36 leaves is interesting not only to the Angler, as being written by a contemporary of Izaak Walton, who mentions him in the third edition of the "Complete Angler" under the name of Jo. Davors, but to the collector of English Poetry, it being entirely in verse. The frontispiece represents two men Angling, one with a fish, and the other with the world at the end of the line.

This first edition of one of the most charming and popular idyls ever written, is also one of the rarest gems of English literature. It is twenty years since it last occurred for sale, excepting the copy which was included in the set of five editions sold at Tite's sale for £68, and afterwards at Craufurd's for £100. Of that set, this first edition constituted fully three quarters of the entire value.
